Uni Guide

University of Basel.

Foreword

Dear Students,

Congratulations on choosing to study at the University of Basel. With this Uni Guide, we want to welcome you to the Basel area and show that you have made the right decision.

This brochure will make it easier to get started, allowing you to concentrate on your studies with peace of mind. The initial study period presents many questions: How do I get to grips with everyday student life? Where can I find an apartment? How much money do I need for my studies and where can I find a part-time job? As the best tips and tricks come from your fellow students, they will answer these questions themselves. Experienced students also know where the best places are to meet up after class to make the most of life outside the lecture hall – and Basel has plenty to offer!

I hope you enjoy our tips and I wish you every success during your time at our university.

Study

When you start your studies, there will be a whole pile of changes and you may find yourself feeling a little lost. To make sure this doesn't last too long, we have put together some tips. However, the most important thing is initiative! Talking with your fellow students and asking your lecturers and student committees will make things much easier.

Tips for new students

“Starting university can be overwhelming – a new city, new people, new information. Don’t be intimidated, not by students who seem to know everything, nor by heavy books and complicated technical terms. Everyone starts from scratch and uncertainty is just part of the process. There will be moments when everything comes easily – and others when you doubt yourself. That’s normal! The important thing is to keep at it, accept setbacks and learn from them. Studying is not a sprint, but a marathon. Do your best, make new friends and enjoy this time!”

Noah Bruttel

Law

“Throw yourselves headlong into daily university life: grapple in-depth with the material, challenge what you have learned, be active in the lectures and don’t be afraid to ask critical questions. Don’t allow yourselves to be intimidated at first by the sheer volume of the subject matter – take it step by step and pay attention to good time management. And be sure to visit the University of Basel’s diverse events for your faculty as well, to expand your horizons.”

“Start Smart” Week: Start of program 2025

The “Start Smart” week offers an introduction for new students at the bachelor’s level so that the start of their studies is as smooth as possible. The university management team greets new students in a Welcome Ceremony held on Monday morning, September 15, followed by introductory events at the faculties. In addition, the service units, student organizations and student committees of the University of Basel will present the diverse range of services offered at the Info Market in the Kollegienhaus.

On the following evenings, first-year students can explore the university world. This includes everything from crash courses and presentations to guided tours, for example of the university library, and a bar tour through the city.

University Library

Spread across five locations, the university library is without a doubt the beating heart of the University of Basel. Finding your way around the library can initially be a challenge for first-semester students, so it is advisable to take part in a library introduction at the beginning of the semester. Once you have registered via the swisscovery search portal (registration.slsp.ch), you can use your UNICard to take advantage of the full range of books, magazines and e-media. The university library becomes extremely busy during exam season – if not before – when its much-coveted workspaces are in short supply. The university library has a large number of study rooms tailored to students' different needs: reading rooms, quiet areas, single tables, armchairs and group rooms. There are even spots for a power nap.

Online Services for students

The University of Basel offers its students Online Services. You can log on via services.unibas.ch using your Unibas email address and the corresponding password. Among other things, Online Services cover the following:

Registration

Towards the end of the preceding semester, students and doctoral students already matriculated at the University of Basel (not newly registered students) receive an email at their Unibas address reminding them to register for the next semester. Registration takes place solely via Online Services.

Course registration

Course registration takes place online. The registration period begins on January 1 or August 1 and ends after the fourth week of lectures. Registering for courses is extremely important because if you do not register for your courses at the start of the semester, you will not receive any credit points for them.

Access to academic achievement account

To obtain an overview, you can use Online Services to access your account containing your academic achievements (courses completed successfully/unsuccessfully including grades, credit points and further details). You can also download an up-to-date overview of your achievements in PDF format at any time and see the current status of your studies.

Change of address

You can change your address and that of your parents/guardians and emergency contact online at any time.

Data transfer information

In Online Services, you can indicate to the University of Basel whether it is permitted to transfer your data to third parties.

Eucor & EPICUR

Eucor – The European Campus is an alliance of five universities based in the Upper Rhine region, namely the Universities of Basel, Freiburg, Haute-Alsace, Strasbourg and the Karlsruhe Institute of Technology (KIT). As a student of the University of Basel, you can attend courses at the partner universities, use libraries and other facilities, and benefit from student discounts. You can study at a partner university for up to two semesters and remain enrolled at the University of Basel. In addition, travel expenses are reimbursed each semester up to a fixed sum. Eucor has been associated with the European University Alliance EPICUR since 2022. You can also access a range of selected interdisciplinary and practical courses offered by the Eucor universities as well as the Universities of Amsterdam (Netherlands), Odense (Denmark), Poznań (Poland), Thessaloniki (Greece) and BOKU in Vienna (Austria).

B

Buddy Support

Questions about your study program, lectures or seminars? Want to know how to find a cheap apartment in Basel, where to go out or where to get good coffee? Many Faculty groups offer you the opportunity of support from a “buddy” while getting to know the university. Contact your Faculty group directly to inquire.

C

Credit points

Credit points must be earned throughout your period of study. Generally, one point equates to around 30 hours of study. This system allows your university achievements to be calculated and compared with other universities around the world. But you won't receive these valuable points until you've passed the course assessment (exam, essay, presentation, etc).

Colloquium

In an academic context, colloquia are where research findings are presented and discussed, developed and subjected to critical analysis. They are important not only for scientific exchange and reflection, but also for career advancement. Participation enables students and doctoral candidates to take part in academic debates.

D

Datenabschrift

A transcript of records is an official document without a signature used by the President's Office to certify credit points acquired at the University of Basel each semester. Transcripts of records should be retained, as together they form a complete record. They may be required for scholarship applications or for transferring credit points to another university.

unibas.ch/datenabschrift

E

Events

Presentations, panel discussions, Q&A sessions – a great many events take place at the University of Basel, as various as the university itself. An overview of all events can be found in the Public Events Calendar.

unibas.ch/veranstaltungen

F

Faculty groups

Faculty groups (FGs) bring together all students from a particular discipline and thus form the basis for the student representative body, skuba, which represents your interests at department level, organizes events and looks after first-semester students. If you have any questions, they can give you first-hand tips.

“The University of Basel is committed to a culture of appreciation and respect in which the personal integrity of all members is acknowledged and valued. The Personal Integrity Office is the first point of contact for violations of personal integrity in the university environment and offers confidential and easily accessible counseling sessions for those affected, witnesses and managers. Do not hesitate to contact me if you have experienced or observed something and would like support – I am here for you.”

Dr. phil. Cora Wagner
Personal Integrity Coordinator

Family friendliness

The University of Basel is certified as a family-friendly university and believes that it should be possible to reconcile your studies with your work and family life. For example, the university offers emergency care for sick children.

Hiwi (Student assistant)

Academic departments are always busy places. Student assistants – or “Hiwis” for short – retrieve books from the library, scan, copy mountains of documents, and also get to take a peek behind the academic scenes. Working as a “Hiwi” is a good part-time job and allows you to make contact with key people in your department.

Inclusive language

We encourage the use of gender-inclusive language. However, students are not subject to any university requirements regarding gender-inclusive language: The use of inclusive symbols such as asterisks or colons cannot be either prescribed or prohibited. Everything else can be found in our language guidelines.

unibas.ch/en/inclusive-language

IT Services

IT Services are responsible for your email address and VPN access to the university network (among other things). You can also download software here. The Neptune Project, which allows you to purchase laptops at a discounted price, is also very popular with students.

N

Numerus clausus

If there are more students than places on a course, then a numerus clausus (NC) is applied. At the University of Basel, a NC is used only for programs at the Faculty of Medicine. Unlike at other universities, applicants are not screened according to their grade in their school leaving examination. Instead, they must take a standardized aptitude test or an entrance examination.

O

Ombudsman's Office

The Ombudsman's Office is open to all students wishing to submit a complaint relating to university matters, provided that these do not fall within the remit of another board of appeals. If conflicts arise during your studies that must be treated as confidential, you can contact the Ombudsman's Office.

R

Registration

You've passed your first semester and that longed-for break has begun. Despite your holiday mood, it's very important that you don't forget to register for the coming semester using Online Services. You will receive a reminder email from the university stating the period in which to register.

S

Seminars and proseminars

Seminars and proseminars are generally aligned with lecture topics. These interactive classes offer an opportunity to work on specific topics based on participants' contributions in shared discussion. A proseminar provides an introduction to a subject area, with methods presented and practiced and an overview communicated. In a seminar, an individual topic is treated in more depth in joint academic work. The students undertake reports, group work and presentations.

T

Tutorials

Tutorials are classes in which the content of a lecture or seminar is explained and repeated in greater depth. The tutors are normally older students who can give you practical tips and advice.

Research Magazine

UNI NOVA is the University of Basel's academic magazine. As well as a focus on a particular area, UNI NOVA reports on current research at the University of Basel and features profiles, opinion columns and tips for books and public events. The magazine is published twice a year and subscription is free. Copies of the magazine in German to take away can be found in various racks in the main building. You can find the English version online at:

Support

To complete your studies successfully, you will also need to deal with many administrative matters and obtain information from various places. The University of Basel has a range of offices that can advise and support you on a wide variety of matters, from admission to your Unibas email address.

Student Administration Office

The Student Administration Office is a source of general information. If you have a question about admission, registration, matriculation, or semester registration, you've come to the right place. There is a ticket system. So please pull a number outside and wait until you are called. However, many questions can be resolved without actually going to the office in person. You can use Online Services to change your address and register for courses, semesters, etc., online.

Accommo- dation

Move out or stay at home? Commute or move to the city? And if so, where? Students choose their living arrangements for a wide variety of reasons. As in many cities, Basel's housing market is tight, so make sure to plan ahead of time for your search!

Sharing an apartment

“Shared flats are worlds in constant flux. They mix a wide variety of people and experiences – and are always evolving. Life in a shared flat is full of changes, compromises and minor disputes. Living with others means having to open up, but it also offers the opportunity to get to know people very quickly and very closely. At best, your shared flat offers you a nurturing community; at worst, living together becomes a huge emotional chaos. You might even exist completely at cross purposes. All of this is part of life. It’s best to settle somewhere in Basel first. It’s much quicker then to find the right home locally.”

Cleo Hemmeter
Economics

“Studying is the perfect fresh start – a new city, new people and countless opportunities. A shared flat can be more than just a room – it can be a temporary home, a place for long conversations, shared evenings and spontaneous discovery tours through the city. This is where friendships are formed that often last beyond your studies. What’s important? Be honest with yourself! Are you looking for a functional living space or would you prefer a community that cooks, laughs and enjoys student life together? How important are cleanliness, peace and quiet or shared activities to you? If you know your wishes and boundaries, it’s easier to find a shared flat that really feels like home.”

At home in Basel

The Rhine divides Basel into two parts, Kleinbasel in the north and Grossbasel in the south. The city has 19 residential districts, each with its own special character. The Canton of Basel-Stadt also includes the municipalities of Riehen and Bettingen. Basel is an extremely popular place to live. But despite the tight housing market, it is possible for students to find attractive accommodation.

Grossbasel

Grossbasel encompasses the whole of Basel on the left of the Rhine and, with the old town, also includes the city's historic center. Grossbasel's direct proximity to many university buildings and its location in the center of the city are beneficial for students.

Registration

Every move into, move within or move away from the canton of Basel-Stadt must be reported to the Residents' Registration Office within 14 days. In many cases, you can do this online via eMoving if you have moved within Switzerland.

For cross-border moves, a personal visit to the Residents' Registration Office is required.

Registration gives you access to various benefits, such as discounted public transport tickets (U-Abo), parking cards and more. Information and forms are available at:

[bdm.bs.ch/wohnen/
basel-for-new-arrivals](https://bdm.bs.ch/wohnen/basel-for-new-arrivals)

Gundeli

The Gundeli district is located between the platforms of the SBB train station and Margarethenpark in the south of the city. Although slightly further from the center and the Rhine, advantages for students include lower rents and a direct connection to the SBB station. The district has developed greatly in the last few years and is now known as the "city within the city". Its good location, many shops and cafés and cultural diversity make Gundeli a lively and attractive place for students.

Kleinbasel

Kleinbasel is the area to the right of the Rhine. It is a very popular residential area among students, with lower rents than Grossbasel and a very active nightlife. The district's greatest attraction, however, is the Rhine riverfront, where Basel's residents spend much of their free time in the summer. Numerous "buvettes" (refreshment stands) between the different bridges and Dreiländereck (border triangle) invite you to while away the time.

Breite

The Breite district lies on the Grossbasel side in the east of the city. Part of the district sits directly on the banks of the Rhine and is particularly famous among students for the "Birsköpfl", the park in which the Birs flows into the Rhine. In the summer, this is a great place to lie on a towel and relax in the sun, taking an occasional refreshing dip in the Rhine.

Wettstein

The Wettstein district can be found in Kleinbasel on the banks of the Rhine. It houses the premises of the pharmaceutical group Hoffmann-La Roche and gained a new trademark with the Roche Tower, Switzerland's tallest building, a few years ago. The Wettsteinplatz transport hub provides very good connections to numerous tram and bus routes and to the SBB and Badischer Bahnhof train stations.

WoVe

Looking for accommodation can be a real challenge for students. Luckily, you have the Association for Student Accommodation – or WoVe – on your side. Since 1970, this non-profit organization has been promoting the letting and placement of fair-priced accommodation for young people. You can find our opening hours and further information on our website:

wove.ch

Why should you register with WoVe?

It's easy to find a room through WoVe. Depending on size, comfort level and amenities, rents run between CHF 390 and 1060.

How do I go about finding accommodation through WoVe?

You can register for furnished or unfurnished rooms on the WoVe website, by email or in person. If you decide on an unfurnished room, you can contact households with free rooms directly to arrange an inspection and get to know the other residents. If it all works out, WoVe will draw up the rental agreement. If you would prefer a furnished room, you can choose from a list and draw up a rental agreement with the WoVe team. Everyone is free to come and get advice during our office hours.

What kind of accommodation can WoVe arrange?

WoVe can offer lodgings through the “Wohnstiftung für Studierende” (student accommodation foundation) at reasonable rates. It can also arrange interim use of properties by trainees – an ideal solution that is usually very reasonably priced. Then there are the special types of residence such as the student house in the Erlenmatt quarter.

House for students

In summer 2019, WoVe opened the student residence in the Erlenmatt quarter, providing highly popular rooms in shared apartments. Grouped around a courtyard, the 16 apartments are accessed via an open stairway and exterior corridors. Each apartment provides accommodation for four to seven individuals. The residents particularly appreciate the fact that they are among their peers in the inner courtyard.

Work

For many students, earning money alongside their studies is a financial necessity. Others simply want to gain practical experience and enhance their CVs. Be it an internship, student job or student assistant position, combining work and studies is always a challenge.

Gaining work experience

“In my first semester, my first professional experience was working in for a catering firm. I enjoyed the job a lot, but the working hours made it increasingly stressful. I now have an office job with a pharmaceutical company, where I help with the administration and organization of events. This gives me regular working hours and a supportive environment. I also have the opportunity to apply theoretical knowledge from my studies in a practical way. At the same time, I’m expanding my skills through my daily work – for example in building a professional network and navigating the world of work with confidence.”

Vladlena Fras
Economics

“Outside university, I work as a legal assistant in a law firm. During my studies, we learn the basics through theory and mostly fictitious cases, which is why my practical experience is a great enrichment to my studies. It gives me the opportunity to apply the theoretical knowledge I learn at university in practice and helps me to better understand the sometimes complex and abstract subject matter of the lectures. In addition, the work helps me get to know the specific procedures and processes of the daily work of a law firm and to identify connections. These insights enable me to constantly learn more about which specialist areas interest me and will also make it easier for me to choose a career after graduation.”

Student jobs

Delivering food and packages as a bicycle courier, taking on night shifts in private care facilities or working as a student assistant in teaching and research: Students in Basel have plenty of options to work alongside their studies. Many need to work to remain financially independent, while others want to gain practical experience during semester vacations. Whether and how much you can work differs from person to person and greatly depends on the phase of your studies, which may allow you to take on larger or smaller responsibilities. However, employers are generally quite understanding about fluctuating workloads and student budgets tend to be fairly flexible too. Nevertheless, combining work and studies remains a challenge. You can find good jobs at:

markt.unibas.ch, ronorp.net/basel/jobs

Student trainees

Some of Basel's largest companies (such as the Baloise Group) employ student trainees. In contrast to many other student jobs, these positions relate to what you are studying and the workload can usually be adapted to fit in with exams and semester vacations. Employers often support bachelor's and master's theses too. The best thing to do is consult the company's website directly.

Career Service Center

So you've finished university – what next? The Career Service Center (CSC) will help you get your career off the ground. The CSC offers personalized careers advice, workshops, events and information to make it easier for our students to launch, plan and steer their professional lives. Good application documents and a professional interview are crucial to starting your career successfully. A detailed and intensive check-up will put your application portfolio under the microscope. If necessary, they can also help you to reflect on your situation and outline your prospects. To arrange an appointment, simply email csc@unibas.ch.

The CSC organizes a number of interesting events, such as workshops, career days or panel events, with the aim of enabling students to get in direct contact with company representatives. Every two years, the long night of the career takes place in November. The event features everything from interview training to style coaching.

Life

While it is crucial to get a handle on your studies, what happens outside the lecture hall is just as important. And this is what makes Basel the perfect choice: Not only is it a great place to study, it's also a great place to live.

Away from the lecture hall

“For me, my involvement in the Sustainability Working Group (AGN) is the perfect complement to everyday university life. In contrast to my often rather theoretical studies, I can get something concrete off the ground together with other motivated people. I also gain valuable experience in event management and project management. The AGN offers me the opportunity to work independently and to address aspects of sustainability that I truly care about, such as climate justice. I’ve also met a lot of inspiring people, who I enjoy spending time with and whose enthusiasm is infectious. Because we primarily organize events at the university, I’ve also got to know the university itself better, which in turn is useful for my studies.”

Jessica Granchi

History and geography

“When I’m not in lectures, I play volleyball at the university sports club. This balances out the brain work I do for my studies and also helps me to stay fit. I really appreciate the social aspect of sport, especially the way it’s organized through Unisport. Volleyball allows me to meet lots of students from subjects who I wouldn’t otherwise come into contact with. This means that my group of friends is more diverse. It also introduces me to new subjects and interests that I would otherwise never have come across during my studies. And, volleyball helps me to work the stress out and clear my head.”

Traffic

Most University of Basel sites are located close together in the city center. Short distances are best covered using the well-established public transport network. The U-Abo season ticket allows you to travel cheaply as far as Fricktal or into Germany. Or even better – cycle. Low-cost bikes can be found on the University of Basel marketplace or at the Velomärt.

University Sports

Whether dynamic strength exercises in Les Mills Bodypump, precise kicking sequences in Taekwondo, impressive balancing acts in circus acrobatics or nimble dodging maneuvers in dodgeball – Unisport offers a program with over 120 disciplines in sport, movement and body awareness. In addition to weekly training sessions from Monday to Saturday, Unisport also offers camps, workshops and advice. It doesn't matter whether you're a beginner, returning athlete or even a top athlete, there's something for you at every level. For those who prefer to train individually, a modern fitness center is available at very fair subscription rates. The center is run by a professional and dedicated team who are on hand to offer advice and support during training. Most training sessions are free of charge and don't require advance booking. Courses that require registration can be booked via the website. These courses are popular and fill up quickly. All Basel University students with a valid student ID card are eligible to participate in Unisport.

Important: Always carry your ID with you, as there are regular entry checks. Information on the entire program, further helpful information and impressions from events and courses can be found on the Internet.

Finances

Alongside the tuition fees charged by the University of Basel, your studies will involve a few other expenses: books, insurance, rent and (of course) living costs. The following pages provide a guide to the types of costs incurred when you live away from home.

My Budget

Compared to other Swiss cities, Basel is a relatively cheap place to live. The most important thing is to draw up a personal budget at the very start – this can save you a few headaches later on.

Scholarships: Where to ask

Switzerland has a decentralized system of scholarships, which means that each canton has its own rules and regulations. University education is essentially financed either by a student's parents and/or the canton in which the parents are eligible to pay tax.

Insurance

When starting their studies, most people probably don't give any serious thought to insurance and leave their parents to sort out such tedious matters. However, it's high time you took responsibility to avoid any nasty surprises later on. The Social Services at the University of Basel can provide personal advice about insurance and has produced a useful leaflet on insurance tips for students, which is available at unibas.ch/sozialberatung

Students are essentially responsible for their own insurance. Everyone resident in Switzerland is required to take out health insurance unless they are eligible for exemption (for further information, visit kvg.org or unibas.ch/sozialberatung). The hardest part is to choose from the numerous providers. The various premiums can be compared on comparis.ch. It's vital that your health insurance also includes accident cover – unless you work more than eight hours a week and are therefore covered by your employer. All students enrolled at the University of Basel are provided with automatic and free insurance cover against the consequences of an accident causing permanent damage – however, this does not include medical costs, but is a one-off capital payment in the event of disability due to an accident.

AHV

As a student residing in Switzerland, you are obligated to contribute to AHV (old-age and survivors' insurance) as of January 1 of the year in which you celebrate your 21st birthday. The University of Basel is legally obliged to pass on certain information about you (name, date of birth, address, marital status, OASI number and nationality) to the responsible OASI compensation office to ensure that there are no gaps in your contributions. The compensation office will then determine whether you have to pay the minimum contribution for those who are not in employment or whether you are already covering the OASI contributions, for example because you have a part-time job.
