TEACHING EXCELLENCE AWARDS

2023

Modern Scholarship (Credit Suisse Award): Digital teaching complements and enriches studying at our on-campus university. Nominate lecturers who create exciting learning opportunities for students both in person and in the digital world.

Strong foundations: Developing confidence in your skills is important to being a successful student. Nominate lecturers who show students how to be successful at both independent and collaborative learning, creating a strong foundation for further study.

---

Breaking new ground – student teaching: In many places, students play an active role in teaching: as tutors, in the design of learning materials, and so on. Nominate bachelor and master students who help their fellow students learn.

---

Future Talents (Credit Suisse Award): Young lecturers bring new ideas and a fresh breeze to the university. Nominate PhD students and early career researchers whose teaching students find especially motivating.

---

Service to teaching: Students and lecturers benefit enormously from a supportive environment. Nominate any member of the university – staff, (student) associations, (coordination) offices, etc. – who contributes to creating an enjoyable and smooth-running study experience.

The University of Basel grants Teaching Excellence Awards for outstanding teaching in five categories.

Award winners are selected in a multi-stage process. The reasons given by those who submit nominations are the basis for the selection of the candidates.

The Teaching Excellence Awards are an impulse for a wide-ranging discussion about teaching and learning at the University of Basel.

---

All students and staff at the University of Basel are invited to submit nominations for the Teaching Excellence Awards 2023 of the University of Basel. Just three independent nominations with compelling reasons are enough to propel someone to the longlist for a Teaching Excellence Award.

Nominations open: 20 March 2023

Nominations close: 29 March 2023
