Intercultural Competences, Foreign Languages & Future Skills

The Eucor & EPICUR courses complement the study programs at the University of Basel. In addition to subject-specific skills, students can potentially gain important social skills that optimally prepare them for careers both domestically and abroad.

Internationalization of Studies

By participating in one or more courses from the Eucor & EPICUR programs, the student has gained international academic experience.

European Alliances

Eucor – The European Campus is a trinational alliance of five universities in the Upper Rhine metropolitan region. These include the University of Freiburg and the Karlsruhe Institute of Technology in Germany, the University of Strasbourg and the University of Haute-Alsace (Mulhouse-Colmar) in France, and the University of Basel in Switzerland. Eucor allows students to freely choose from the full range of courses offered by its five member universities. It fosters cross-border mobility, the European ideal, and the potential for European cooperation.

EPICUR is an alliance of nine universities across seven European countries. EPICUR is one of the European university alliances. In addition to the Eucor partner universities, EPICUR includes Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznań (Poland), Aristotle University of Thessaloniki (Greece), the University of Southern Denmark in Odense (Denmark), the University of Natural Resources and Life Sciences in Vienna (Austria), and the University of Amsterdam (Netherlands). Eucor is an associated partner of the EPICUR alliance. This enables University of Basel students to participate in an exclusive selection of innovative courses. These courses typically focus on addressing current socially relevant issues (real-world problems) in international, interdisciplinary teams, working in close contact with stakeholders from politics, economy, and society.
