

Why GSK?

Marketing and Sales Future Leaders Programme, Switzerland

GSK is a science-led global healthcare company that researches and develops a broad range of innovative products in three primary areas of Pharmaceuticals, Vaccines and Consumer Healthcare. Our business has an estimated 7% share of the world's pharmaceutical market and in 2013 our turnover was £26.5 billion. That's thanks to the vision and talent of our people – around 100,000 of them, working in over 100 countries worldwide.

We are seeking graduates to join both our Pharmaceutical Marketing and Sales Graduate Programme commencing in September 2015.

We need leaders of the future, now.

The aim of our Future Leaders programme is clear. We expect you to become a leader – both within our business and in your own professional field. We'll give you the structured training, differentiated development, experiences and opportunities you need to succeed at the very top. So you can help us to make a bigger, more positive impact on the world.

What will the programme be like?

Our Marketing and Sales programmes will stimulate your early career development through broad-ranging experiences. Your development will come through challenging job rotations, supported by formal learning and coaching.

We'll give you a breadth of experience across the key areas of our commercial business, including marketing, sales and customer management. You will attend a number of 'core' training courses and also have the opportunity to shape your development and attend courses that are specific to your needs and interests. From the start, our challenging rotations will help you deliver the standards of commercial excellence we'd expect from a future leader.

Where can I work?

We're currently recruiting in Switzerland for our location in Münchenbuchsee/Bern.

What do I need to succeed?

Whatever your degree, you'll need ambition, commercial awareness and a self-motivated, proactive approach. We're looking for clear, effective communicators who can quickly build a rapport with a wide range of people. It's also important that you can adapt to change and keep focused when the pressure is on. While you have the drive and confidence to trust your own judgement, you're a real team player who actively collaborates with others. In addition, you'll need an analytical mind, a talent for multi-tasking and the ability to influence others
